THE CHURCH HOUSE
WIDECOMBE

WIDECOMBE-IN-THE-MOOR (F8) is an immense parish, covering nearly 11,000 acres, of which some 4,000 acres are wild moorland. The village lies in the broad valley of the East Webburn river which is bounded by high granite-strewn ridges reaching 1,500 ft. Hamel-down Beacon (1,697 ft.) was a beacon in Elizabethan times. On the moors are many hut-circles, barrows, and kists (burial-chambers or "chests") of Bronze Age date. Hamel Down has a number of barrows, and also two of those mysterious raised trackways known as reaves. The late Mr. Hansford Worth, after studying Dartmoor for some sixty years, could come to no conclusion about their purpose or their date. At Foales Arrishes is a group of hut-circles, which are important as having produced early Iron Age pottery, evidence of a longer occupation of Dartmoor than had hitherto been suspected.

Natsworthy and Dunstone were both Domesday manors, the former the highest in Devon (1,200 ft.). On the marginal slopes we also find Dewdon (now part of Blackslade Farm), Spitchwick, and Scobitor, all in being by the late 11th cent. Bittleford is named in a Saxon charter of 956. Several fine old moorland farmhouses survive in the parish, of which Corndon, Chittleford, and Lower Tor (or Tarr) are examples. Lizwell was a "mansion" in the 17th and 18th cents. With the aid of the 2½-inch maps (sheets 20/67, 20/77) the reader should explore the parish on foot, when he will make his own discoveries.

Widecombe church (St. Pancras) is sometimes called "the cathedral of the moor" (plate 29). It is essentially a cruciform 14th-cent. church, reconstructed and enlarged in the late 15th-early 16th cent. The granite tower is noble, combining grace with strength, and is one of the finest in the west of England. The massive crocketed pinnacles are very characteristic of church towers around Dartmoor, especially W. and NW. of the Moor. The rood-screen had been cut down before 1822, but the remains are interesting, exhibiting a fine series of 32 paintings of saints, apostles, and the four Latin Doctors. The church was struck by lightning, during the Sunday afternoon service, on 21 October 1638. Four people were killed and 62 injured. The rustic verses in the N. aisle commemorate the event. The Church House (c. 1500), a fine example of a moorstone building, now belongs to the National Trust.

The well-known Widecombe Fair is held on the second Tuesday in September. Formerly great numbers of cattle, sheep and Dartmoor ponies were sold, but the modern fair is largely a "pleasure fair" and is highly commercialised. It became popular with the spread of the ballad of that name, which is inevitably sung at all village concerts in Devon, and was sung by the men of the Devon Regiment in the South African War.

LONDON

Intelligent use of a map enables a visitor to plan a fascinating journey through some well-known Dartmoor villages if he curves north-east from Hexworthy and circles back to the A38.

Widcombe is the most celebrated village of them all, partly owing to the song, partly to its own intrinsic and great merits. There it stands, eight hundred feet up and, indeed, 'in-the-moor'; but, with Hameldown on one side and Honeybag, Bell and Chinkwell on the other, it hugs its east-facing spur above the East Webburn and is sheltered. As sheltered, that is, as any Dartmoor village can hope to be. Widcombe folk 'pick their geese' (you pick in Devon, not 'pluck') many times a winter and then snow falls remorselessly from leaden skies.

The ordnance map spells it Widcombe; the Place-Names of Devon spells it Widdecombe, and explains it as meaning "either withy or wide valley". Crossing thought that it was a corruption of a word meaning 'the sky'—presumably, 'open to the elements'. Whatever the truth about that, it was a great tin centre—Hookney Tor, Blind Tor and Golden Dagger mines. Its noble church—'the cathedral of the moor', to use the cant phrase—was built with 'tin money' and there, on one of the roof bosses, are the tinnery's rabbits with their three conjoined ears: alchemical symbol representing tin; and ancient fertility symbol, too—'The Hunt of Venus'. The church tower is considered to be one of the finest in all the West Country, and the impression of warmth, light and loving care that the building conveys is an abiding memory. The satanic obstruction that three times removed the foundation stones from the western site has been thwarted long ago, though a legend attaching to the undoubtedly historical storm of 21st October 1638 (when four people were killed and sixty-two injured during the afternoon service) tells how the Devil visited Widcombe once more, calling for the soul of Widcombe Jan and creating this fearful destruction when making the arrest.

Widcombe Fair is known throughout the English-speaking world. It was a great agricultural event once (cattle, sheep and pony sales) but is now almost wholly a tourist attraction and so popular that those of us who prefer to keep away can do Widcombe no harm. The little place has a wonderful resilience and recovers quite remarkably from 'the season'. Six people live in the heart of the village during the winter, according to the churchwarden, who himself lives very much in its heart, his home being part of the sixteenth-century church house—owned by the National Trust—the rest serving as a village hall. Outside, a nice touch, one of the old beams makes a bench on which Widcombe people can sit and watch the world go by. And here, out of season, I would gladly join them.

Generation One

1. John Hannaford, b. Bet:1682-1708. John is the earliest known ancestor in the Hannaford lineage. The first record we have of him is his marriage to Joane French the 26th September 1726 in Exeter, St. Thomas the Apostle. The family lived at Broadaford in Widecombe-in-the-Moor Parish, Devonshire, England. At this time in early England all farms had a specific name. Broadaford was derived from the broad stream or ford that had to be crossed to get to the farm. The ancient bridge is still in use. All farms at this time were owned by the Lord of the Manor. In the early 1800's Richard Barre, Lord Ashburton, owned Broadaford, which contained about one hundred and eighty acres. About a third of the farms are privately owned now and the owner of Broadaford is Peter Dracup. The farmhouse has a modern wing today but the rear of the house dates back to the 17th or 18th century and is made of granite stone. The old barn and outside toliet are made of the same stone. The toliet still has the thatched roof. The church to which the Hannafords belonged is called "the Cathedral in the Moor" and is believed to have been built in the late 1300's. It is dedicated to St. Pancreas. The Hannaford name appears in the church registers as early as 1570 where they show a John Hannaford born to an Ollyver. The early Hannafords are buried in this churchyard.

He married Joane French, 26 Sept 1726 in Exeter, Devonshire, England,¹ (daughter of Robert French), baptized in St. Thomas the Apostle, Exeter, England. Joane: Joane was of St. Thomas the Apostle Parish, which was located on the outskirts of Exeter. Exeter lies 15 miles northeast of Widecombe-in-the-Moor Parish on the overbank of the River Exe. No further information has been found for Joane.

Children:

- + 2 i. Elizabeth Hannaford.
- + 3 ii. John Hannaford.
- + 4 iii. Robert Hannaford.
- 5 iv. Joane Hannaford, baptized 23 Apr 1732 in Widecombe in the Moor, Devon, England. A Joane Hannaford married an Arthur Hannaford 2/3/1761. Six children were baptized between 1761 and 1770 - Arthur, Robert, Joan, Arthur, John and Samuel. This family may have lived in North Bovey. More documentation is needed.

Generation Two

2. Elizabeth Hannaford, baptized 19 Feb 1726 in Widecombe in the Moor, Devon, England,² buried: 15 Mar 1759 in Widecombe in the Moor, Devon, England.² Five children are shown for Elizabeth and John in the baptismal records. It was very common for people to use the same name for the second child if the first one died. In this case three sons were named John.

She married John Leaman, 25 May 1746 in Widecombe in the Moor Parish, Devonshire, England.^{2,1}

Children:

- 6 i. John Leaman.
 - 7 ii. John Leaman.
 - 8 iii. William Leaman.
 - 9 iv. John Leaman.
 - 10 v. Joan Leaman.
3. John Hannaford, baptized 28 Jul 1728 in Widecombe in the Moor, Devon, England,² d. By 1798. John's baptismal record lists him as the son of John and Joane of Broadaford. There were five John's buried between 1774 and 1791. We assume that one of these is the above John. When Elizabeth died in 1798 she was listed as a widow. Sha Redfern of Johannesburg, South Africa, also descends from this line.

He married Elizabeth Wilcocks, 8 May 1755 in Widecombe in the Moor, Devon, England,² (daughter of Peeter Willcocks and Mary French), baptized 27 Jan 1733 in Lower Merry Pitt, W-I-M-Parish, Devon, buried: 24 Aug 1798 in Widecombe in the Moor, Devon, England.

Children:

- 11 i. John Hannaford, baptized 18 Mar 1756 in Widecombe in the Moor, Devon, England,² buried: 24 May 1768 in Widecombe in the Moor, Devon, England.²
- 12 ii. Elizabeth Hannaford, baptized 25 Apr 1760 in Widecombe in the Moor, Devon, England.² An Elizabeth married Edward Stranger of Holne 2 Nov 1770. They may have moved from Widecombe Parish as no further records were found for them.
- + 13 iii. Samuel Hannaford.
- 14 iv. Peter Hannaford, baptized 3 Apr 1764 in Widecombe in the Moor, Devon, England,² buried: 1 Aug 1810 in Widecombe in the Moor, Devon, England.² Peter and his brother Robert leased Broadaford together in 1803. Peter died at age 46 years.
- 15 v. Jane Hannaford, baptized 18 Apr 1766 in Widecombe in the Moor, Devon, England. Jane may have married Richard Hamlyn 08 Dec 1786. Parish records show nine children born to them between 1787 and 1804 - Peter, Betty, Richard, George, Elizabeth, Ann, Joan, Harriet and William. A Jane Hamlyn, age 41, was buried 2 Jun 1807. There was another Richard Hamlyn and Joan in Widecombe and with the name Joan/Jane used interchangeably, more research needs to be done to separate these two families.
- 16 vi. John Hannaford, baptized 3 Nov 1769 in Widecombe in the Moor, Devon, England.² Parish records show three marriages that could belong to this John - 4/3/1796 to Mary Hannaford. 4/11/1796 to Elizabeth Norrish and 9/24/1797 to Elizabeth Gribble.
- 17 vii. Roger Hannaford, baptized 16 May 1771 in Widecombe in the Moor, Devon, England.² Widecombe Parish records show a marriage for Roger to Joan Windeatt, 18 May 1801. Three births are shown for Roger and Joan between 1808 and 1823 - John, Elizabeth or Mary, and Roger. Further records need to be obtained to determine if these children belong to this Roger and Joan. Roger may have died in May 1851 in Widecombe-in-the-Moor.
- + 18 viii. Robert Hannaford.
- 19 ix. Richard Hannaford, baptized 24 May 1776 in Widecombe in the Moor, Devon, England, buried: 28 Oct 1777 in Widecombe in the Moor, Devon, England.

He married Agness Balhatchet, 17 Aug 1753 in Widecombe in the Moor, Devon, England.²

Children:

- 20 i. Joan Hannaford, baptized 29 Apr 1755 in Widecombe in the Moor Parish, Devonshire, England.²

Generation Three

13. Samuel Hannaford, baptized 23 Feb 1762 in Widecombe in the Moor, Devon, England,² buried: 30 Sept 1826 in Round Hill, Lydford, Dartmoor, Devon, Eng.² Round Hill was probably the name of Samuel's farm. There is a marriage in Stoke Damerel for Samuel to Elizabeth Leaman 8/3/1795. Samuel was buried by warrant from coroner. He was age 63 years.

He married Elizabeth.

Children:

- 21 i. Elizabeth Hannaford, baptized 23 Nov 1795 in Widecombe in the Moor Parish, Devonshire, England.³

She married Richard Ley, 03 Jul 1833 in Widecombe-in-the-Moor Parish, Devonshire, England.³ Richard: Richard was of Exminster. Edwin Chown and Samuel Hannaford were witnesses to the marriage.

18. Robert Hannaford, baptized 31 Aug 1773 in Widecombe in the Moor, Devon, England,² buried: 9 Mar 1847 in Widecombe in the Moor, Devon, England.² Robert and his brother Peter leased Broadaford in 1803 from Richard Barre', Lord Ashburton. The farm contained one hundred and eighty acres. In 1817 and 1823 Robert alone leased Broadaford. Broadaford is now privately owned by Peter Dracup. In 1841 Robert and family are on the Widecombe census at Broadaford. In 1841 a Mary Hannaford age 2 is living with the family.

He married Jane Clampitt, 12 Sept 1805 in Widecombe in the Moor, Devon, England,² (daughter of Robert Clampitt and Joan Lee), baptized 18 Dec 1784 in Widecombe in the Moor, Devon, England, buried: 31 Jan 1867 in Widecombe in the Moor, Devon, England. Generation Four

31. William John Hannaford, b. 11 Nov 1815 in Widecombe in the Moor, Devon, England,⁴ baptized 05 Jan 1816 in Widecombe in the Moor, Devon, England,² d. 07 Nov 1889 in Macedonia, Hamilton Co. IL,⁵ buried: in Macedonia Cemetery, Hamilton County, Illinois.⁶ John and Ann were living in the Parish of Widecombe, on the east side of Dartmoor Forest, close to Ashburton in 1845 and 1848. By 1849 they were recorded as "of Lydford", the village just west of Dartmoor. The Parish of Lydford, however, covers Dartmoor itself, so John and Ann may have actually lived on the moor, not too far from Widecombe. John was a stonemason, according to Eugene Hannaford, a grandson. In late 1849 John and Ann with children Joseph, Mary Jane, John, and Ann's brother, William Townsend, sailed for America, arriving in March 1850. They first settled in Cincinnati, Ohio, where they were listed in the 1850 Hamilton County, Ohio, Mill Creek Township, census. Listed with them was a Peter Hannaford, age 20, Harriet, age 5, and John, age 4. These latter three have yet to be identified but it is assumed they were nephews and a niece of John's and may have come to America with John and Ann. There was an epidemic in Widecombe in the late 1840's with Ann losing her mother and several siblings, so Peter, Harriet and John may have lost their parents also. Peter settled in Highland County, Ohio. John moved to Mt. Carmel, Clermont County, Ohio, where Ann probably died as John married Martha Sandy Boyles there. By 1865 John and Martha had moved to White County, Illinois. After 1880 they moved to Knight's Prairie, Hamilton County, Illinois.

He married (1) Ann Townsend, 29 Jul 1844 in Widecombe in the Moor, Devon, England,⁷ b. 19 Oct 1825 in Ashburton, Devon, England (daughter of Daniel Townsend and Mary Hamlyn), baptized 15 Nov 1825 in Ashburton, Devon, England, d. c1864 in Probably Clermont Co. Ohio. Ann: Ann Townsend Hannaford's Bible is in possession of the Ethel Winebaugh family.

Children:

- 36 i. Joseph Thomas Hannaford, b. 14 Dec 1844 in Widecombe in the Moor, Devon, England,⁴ d. 24 Aug 1864 in Marietta, Georgia, buried: in Probably Military Cemetery. Joseph was born in Devonshire, England, on 12 December 1844. He arrived in America with his parents and siblings in March 1850. During the Civil War Joseph enlisted 26 January 1864 for three years in Company E, 39th Ohio Infantry Regiment at Cincinnati. He died 24 August 1864 at Marietta, Georgia, from injuries suffered in a battle near Nickajack Creek, Georgia. We assume he is buried in the Marietta National Cemetery but the records do not show a burial for him.

John and Ann were living in the Parish of Whitcombe, on the east side of Dartmoor Forest, close to Ashburton in 1845 and 1848. By 1849 they were recorded as "of Bedford", the village just west of Dartmoor. The Parish of Bedford, however, covers Dartmoor itself so John and Ann may have actually lived on the moor not too far from Whitcombe. John was a stationer according to Eugene Hamanford, a grandson. In late 1849 John and Ann with children Joseph, Mary Jane, John, and Ann's brother William Townsend, sailed for America, arriving in March 1850. They first settled in Cincinnati, Ohio, where they were listed in the 1850 Hamilton County, Ohio, Mill Creek Township census. Listed with them was a Peter Hamanford, age 30, Marrier, age 2, and John, age 4. These latter three have yet to be identified but it is assumed they were nephews and a niece of John's and may have come to America with John and Ann. John moved to Mt. Carmel, Hamilton County, Ohio, where Ann probably died as John married Martha Sandy Foster there. By 1867 John and Martha had moved to Wilma County, Illinois. After 1880 they moved to Knight's Prairie, Hamilton County, Illinois.

He married (1) Ann Townsend, 29 Jul 1844 in Whitcombe in the Moor, Devon, England; d. 19 Oct 1872 in Ashburton, Devon, England (daughter of David Townsend and Mary Haman); baptised 15 Nov 1823 in Ashburton, Devon, England; d. 1864 in probably Canton Co., Ohio. 35. Samuel Hannaford, baptized 10 Apr 1826 in Widecombe in the Moor, Devon, England. In 1851 Samuel appears on the Widecombe-in-the-Moor census. He is living at Broadaford and is farming 50 acres. A R. Hannaford, age 17, and farm hand is living with him, also Jane Hannaford, age 63. This is probably his mother.

He married Elizabeth, b. ca1828 in Widecombe in the Moor Parish, Devonshire, England.⁸
